Harrelle's in . . . for now

By JEFF BROWN

SOUTH BAY — Lomax Harrelle is still South Bay's city manager. For now.

His fate may ultimately rest with the results of a workshop meeting between him and the city commissioners sometime later this month or early in August.

The commission and an audience of about 100 people were in attendance Tuesday night, July 19, to hear Commissioner Willie Marshall's allegations concerning Harrelle's performance on the job, and Harrelle's rebuttal.

Marshall admitted he accused Harrelle July 5 of lying and not cooperating with the commission. As proof, Tuesday he presented a list of city employees detailing the date the individual was hired.

Marshall said he had asked Harrelle several weeks ago why no blacks worked in city hall. Harrelle at that time responded no job openings had occurred since he became city manager, so he couldn't hire anyone.

Marshall passed copies of the list of employees to the city commissioners and press, saying "I want you to take a look at this and maybe you (the press) can get it right this time."

Three names were circled: Sherry Davis, who was hired November 2, 1977; Joyce Goodbread, hired October 8, 1979 and Blanca Mata, hired September 24, 1979.

Harrelle's name was also listed. His name and date of employment, November 1, 1975, were underlined.

Marshall said the three employees whose names were circled were hired after Harrelle started as city manager.

"I have nothing against those people, I just want to know why you don't tell us the truth when we ask you these things," Marshall said.

Harrelle pointed out that he was hired in 1975 as Public Works Director and Building Inspector and didn't take over as acting city manager until early 1980.

The most recently hired employee whose name Marshall circled was hired in October of 1979, about half a year before Harrelle was able to hire any employees for city hall.

"How long have you been issuing building permits for the city," Marshall asked Harrelle.

"How did we get from hiring employees to issuing building permits?" asked Harrelle.

"There's no connection between the two," Mayor Donald Tanner told Marshall.

"Don't worry about that," said Marshall.

Mike Underwood, a South Bay citizen who was among the many individuals attending the meeting, pointed out that Harrelle apparently told Marshall the truth: no vacancies occurred in city hall in the time he's been city manager.

"He told you the truth," said Underwood. "You were wrong. Next item."

Marshall then changed subjects, and detailed a complaint he said he and Commissioner Rennie Morris received. Continued on page 5

Pension boards study city's plans

BELLE GLADE — Boards in charge of overseeing the various city employee pension plans will be studying the plans and looking into the possibility of withdrawing the funds from the current plans and investing in new ones.

All three pension boards met Monday night, July 18 in Belle Glade's city hall and discussed the shortcomings and advantages of the plans that the city currently contributes to.

The fire department, police department and general employee plans are all handled as part of Aetna's general fund, according to Everett Eynon, III, a representative of the company's employee benefits division.

There are 57 regular employees, 20 police officers and six firemen covered in the fund that has a total of $1,652,507 invested through Aetna right now, according to Eynon.

The fund guarantees the plan an annual interest rate of about six percent, plus other income and an earnings.

Commissioner George Goforth, sitting as a member of the general employee pension fund board, pointed out, that interest rates have been two or three times higher than six percent for one or two years now.

The city could pull its funds out of the plan and invest it in another plan, but it would have to pay a penalty of about 7.28 percent to Aetna.

That penalty rate is down from almost 30 percent a year ago, pointed out Mayor Thomas L. Altman, who set as chairman of all three boards.

"This is probably the time, if ever there was one, to look at alternative investment vehicles," agreed Eynon.

"One thing has become painfully clear, there's much talk about guaranteed interest, guaranteed return with no talk about guaranteed principal," said Altman. "You go to withdraw the funds and you find out about guaranteed principal."

Aetna had contracted with the city to govern the pension plans in the mid-1950s, according to Eynon. He said the city and employees have been contributing to the fund and that it is now "well funded, adequately funded."

RICE is touted by some members of the agricultural community as a good crop to grow in an effort to slow the subsidence of muck soil in the Glades area. The Agricultural Research and Experiment Center in Belle Glade dedicated a full day of programs about rice last week. Above, David Jones gives a group of about 50 a tour of the AREC rice field.

Incumbents file Friday

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE — The three incumbent city commissioners whose terms expire this September have wasted no time in revealing their intentions.

All three qualified as candidates for re-election at about 9:30 a.m. Friday, July 15, the first day potential candidates could do so.

So far, only other citizen has picked up a packet, according to City Clerk June H. Boglioli. George Goforth, Jr., 46, was the first commissioner to bring his qualifying papers in Friday morning.

He was soon followed by William A. Grear, 59, and Claude A. Tindall, 72. Goforth is running for his second term as the east borough commissioner.

He compared serving as a commissioner to serving as a police officer or firefighter because all three "get into your blood."

He pointed to the improvements currently being made at the sewage and water plants as evidence of the city's progress in the two years he's been on the commission.

"I see a lot of challenges down there," he said. "Especially the water and sewage system. And the fire department. Our fire services needs to be upgraded and we have to stay in the budget constraints. That's the biggest challenge I see.

"And I'd like to see us clean up the city a little bit. There's been a lot of progress in that area already."

Goforth owns G&G Radiator on state road 80 east of Belle Glade.

Grear is running for his sixth term as the west borough commissioner.

He served as mayor in 1975.

Goforth

He said he thinks the annexation of Okeechobee Center will be one of the biggest issues facing ing the commission in the near future.

"That's been an issue for quite some time," said Grear. "I want to continue to see the city grow and to be able to be an integral part of seeing it develop, see it grow and progress as it has in the past."

Grear owns B&E Rubber Stamps and Trophies in Belle

Tindall

Glade.

Tindall is running for his fourth term as the north borough commissioner. He retired from the sheriff's office in 1977.

"I feel very honored that I've had the opportunity to serve the people of Belle Glade. I've served them ever since I've been here," said Tindall. "I don't intend to change my way of doing things or any of my way of thinking."

Candidates have until August 24 to qualify for the September 13 election.

Citizens who want to vote in the municipal election but aren't registered have until August 13 to get their names on the voting rolls.

Study suggests rate schedule adjustments

SOUTH BAY — A report developed by a private firm that studied South Bay's water and sewage rate schedule suggests the city might want to switch from a flat rate schedule to an inverted rate schedule in order to meet debt service payments and lower residential water bills.

The study, conducted by Bonita Gooch and Bill Washington out of West Palm Beach, stated the city had a deficit of $74,468 at the water and sewage plants.

Gooch told the commissioners Tuesday night, July 19 that the report took into consideration the fact the plants had to be self-sustaining financially and also had to raise enough money to make the debt service payments on the bonds and loans issued for their construction and improvements.

She said she also tried to make recommendations that could be used to lower rates for single family, low-volume users.

If the city adopts a block rate schedule, the low-volume users would pay less per thousand gallons and the high-volume users would pay more per thousand gallons.

According to Gooch, 31 percent of the South Bay water and sewage users use less than 3,000 gallons per month. Forty-one percent use 3,000 to 6,000 gallons per month and 14.5 percent use 6,000 to 10,000 per month.

An inverted rate schedule could result in lower rates for about 85 percent of the water and sewage customers in the city, she told the commission.

Mayor Donald Tanner said that an inverted rate structure could still result in deficits at the plants because the high-volume users would get leaking pipes fixed in an effort to lower their

Sleeping rooms hazard to wallet

I am coming to the conclusion that what America needs most is a compact, stripped-down motel room.

Part of my forthcoming conclusion is based on a motel brochure I got in the mail advertising its prices. Whether I'm single or double, the hostelry offers me a place to sleep for $70 a night. For $150, I can rent a one bedroom Lanai. I thought that was a horrendous price to park my pajamas for a few hours until I looked up the word "Lanai" and found it's an island in central Hawaii. If the island goes along with the room, the price isn't all that bad. But will the island fit inside my overnighter? Or will they ship it?

Most motel rooms have reached such a state of elegance these days that the only people who can afford them don't have to pay for them. Their company does. Or the government. The rest of us who have to pay the price cry ourselves to sleep.

Which brings me back to my stripped-down motel room. For us average tourists, a motel room is a place to wash off the road dust and get a night's sleep. This calls for a bath tub, a bed, some lights and a chair.

But the average motel room also includes a lot of other things. Chests of drawers, for instance. Who unpacks in a motel room? Has anybody ever put anything into a motel bureau drawer? If they have, did they remember to take it out next morning when they were leaving?

Oftentimes, there's also a desk. That's for tourists who like to write letters home after they've been driving all day. Or keep diaries, maybe.

Most motel rooms I've been in lately have two double beds in them. That's savvy. You can rent a double double room to a single but people who travel in doubles don't want to share a single bed. (All right, maybe some do.) Trouble is though that people traveling single have to pay the rate for two because the motels don't have single rooms anymore. As a single traveler it would be great to have someone share the expense of a double but therein lies the challenge. Motels don't like you confronting other single travelers in the lobby to ask them if they're sleeping alone. Not that I've tried it, mind you; it's just my personal opinion.

Also, the same motels that charge me for a double occupancy (because I can't promise I'll only occupy one-half of the bed, I suppose) advertise that children under 18 "are guests of the management." Four can sleep as cheaply as two who pay the same price as one, is the way it adds up.

So back to my compact, stripped-down room. What I'd like to find is a motel with a checklist of my necessities and then to charge me accordingly. I would allow as how I wanted a bed with sheets. No pillow, thank you. Bathroom facilities and two towels, please. A chair would be nice, but how much is it? No, I don't need a telephone — I don't know anyone in this town to call. No TV, thanks, I brought a book. And if the chair is too expensive, I'll just read in bed.

I don't expect anything to come of my wishful thinking. The state of the art of motel rooms is too advanced now to offer less than deluxury, on the cramped-up assumption that's how we all live back home in Indiana.

Things have changed mightily since the olden days. The motel industry grew out of the old post road inns — waypoints for travelers in coaches or on horseback. I once had a copy of the house rules from one of those inns which read, in part: "Only three persons to a bed. No sleeping with boots on. Tinklers sleep in the kitchen." Sounds a little rough, but how much is it?

The price you pay

The Pahokee City Council so far has avoided taking any action on Councilman Ronnie Graydon's efforts to have it take a stand opposing the Palm Beach County School District's proposed location for the new Pahokee High School.

Graydon says he's opposed to the site because he doesn't think the school should be built in that particular neighborhood and because it will take about 40 acres of land off the city tax rolls.

The rest of the council and most of the townspeople don't seem too upset over the proposed location and so far, Graydon has sounded more like an angry, and lonely, prophet in the woods than like a spokesman for a large group.

The proposed site is adjacent to the Pahokee High School football field on Larrimore Road, close the residential areas that include Annona Avenue, Banyan Avenue, Cypress Avenue, Barfield Highway, Elm, Flame and Greenstar.

In some respects, we think that it may be an ideal location for a school. It's close to and within walking distance of most residential areas in the city and its close to the present high school, which hasn't drawn much criticism for its location.

We remember many Pahokee parents telling the school board that they opposed a consolidated school between Belle Glade and Pahokee because, among other reasons, they didn't like the prospect of their children having to ride a bus to and from school. Locating the school at the proposed site, not far from the present facility, will reduce the need for busing.

True, if a school is built there, the land will be taken off the tax rolls. We suggest the city write that off as the price you pay for the convenience of a local school. But perhaps, if Graydon is really upset about it, he could find a way, working with the school board, to return the land that now houses the current school on East Main Street, back to the tax paying private sector for development.

The owner of the property the school board intends to build the new school on is, understandably, upset with the decision.

That dispute is between the school district and the owner of the property, however, and the council is right in staying out of it. We suggest that Graydon also turn his attention to other matters or to returning the old high school site to the tax rolls, unless he can come up with better, more compelling reasons not to locate the new school at the proposed site.

Not a pretty face

Jack Eckerd, the self-made drug store millionaire, ran for governor several years ago and lost.

After seeing his wilderness camps for emotionally disturbed youngsters Saturday at Brooksville, I cannot help but think the people of Florida missed out on something by not electing this man.

I have never met Eckerd, but anyone who has gotten involved the way he has with trying to turn around youngsters headed for certain ruin has my respect.

His staff members never referred to him as Mr. Eckerd or Jack, but rather, "The Old Man."

"The Old Man" likes to drop in unannounced to check things out for himself. That's what he did with his drug stores, they say.

Self-made men of high character are increasingly rare these days.

I suppose Eckerd had too many things going against him when he ran for office. He was bald, rich, and Republican.

It seems that today the voters want a pretty face and a smooth manner in their politicians at state and national level. It's too bad we can't have some Eckerd style starch and character up there as well. I'd like to see an "Old Man" like that looking into things.

Came across something that could save your life recently.

Twice as many people die in Florida from lightning as any other state, according to a Cooperative Extension Office bulletin.

If indoors, the bulletin recommends staying away from open doors and windows, stoves, metal electrical appliances and telephones.

If outdoors, stay away from trees, tractors, machinery, or any metal object. Seek a low spot, a ditch for instance.

Get out of and away from open water (in other words, Lake Okechobee is a terrible place to be during a lightning storm).

If you feel electricity in the air or your hair reacts to the static, immediately drop to your knees and bend forward, placing your hands on your knees, with your head down, not touching the ground.

USSC income in top rank

United States Sugar Corp. ranks 13th in the state in net income with $19,322,000 during 1983, according to Florida Trend Magazine.

USSC was ranked ninth in 1982. Florida Trend ranked USSC 26th in the state in sales/revenues in 1983 with $222.3 million in 1983. In 1982, USSC was ranked 25th.

The USSC figures were contained in a Florida Trend survey of the top 50m nonfinancial companies in Florida published in its July issue. Winn Dixie Stores of Jacksonville were again ranked as Florida's largest corporation. The supermarket chain led the state's public companies with $6.7 billion in sales. Winn Dixie also ranked first in net income with $103.5 million. In 1982, Winn Dixie was ranked third in net income. The Charter Company, also of Jacksonville, once again ranks number 2 with $4 billion in revenues, a decline from $4.9 billion last year.

Eastern Airlines and Publix Supermarkets retained their third and fourth place rankings, respectively.

The Jack Eckerd Corp., ranked seventh last year, moved up to the number five position, while the Tampa-based Jim Walter Corp. slipped to number seven.

Last year's net income leader, the Harris Corp. of Melbourne, suffered the biggest drop to fifth place with $76 million in profits.

In a separate listing for financial companies, Southeast Bank retained its top position with $7.2 billion in assets. Others in the top five were Barnett Banks - $6.9 billion, Sun Banks - $5 billion, Florida National Banks - $3.4 billion, and Florida Federal Savings and Loan of St. Petersburg - $3.3 billion.

Overall, revenues among Florida's largest public firms were down 3.7 percent and the net income among the top 50 money-makers fell 6.4 percent from a year earlier, Florida Trend reported. The magazine's annual directory of public companies contains financial and descriptive information on more than 250 Florida companies.

6th Annual Rice Field Day hosted by Belle Glade AREC

BELLE GLADE — Rice, how to grow it, how to keep pests from destroying it, and how it affects other crops, was the topic for about 50 people gathered at the Agricultural Research and Experiment Center in Belle Glade Friday, July 15. The group were at the center to attend the sixth annual rice field day.

Throughout the morning, they heard reports whose topics ranged from the 1982 rice fertility trials to sugar cane production following rice to rice weed control.

G.H. Snyder and D.B. Jones reported on the fertility trials and Jones also spoke on "Promising New Rice Varieties for the Everglades."

Roy J. Smith, Jr. presented a report on "Weed Control Technology for Rice in the Southern U.S." and J.A. Dusky spoke on "Rice Weed Control in the Everglades Agricultural Area."

R.H. Cherry and D.B. Jones reported on "Stinkbugs Attacking Florida Rice."

J. Alvarez and G.H. Snyder spoke on "Sugar-cane Production Following Rice: Four Years of Data," while K.D. Shuler spoke on "Pesticides Approved for Use On Rice in Florida."

The participants also took a tour of the AREC rice field and later took a tour of rice fields throughout the Glades area.

Researchers have been promoting rice as a crop that, if planted when sugarcane isn't occupying a field, could preserve the muck since a flooded rice field prevents the muck from oxidizing.

ed from former Police Chief Charles Forrest.

Marshall said Forrest had raised about $8,000 for the police department and had approached Harrelle about the possibility of purchasing and having installed some new police equipment for the department.

Marshall said Harrelle didn't permit the purchase and installation of the equipment and that Forrest told him it was one of the reasons he was leaving the South Bay Police Department.

Harrelle on the matter at the time it was brought to his attention and that Harrelle told him he was opposed to the equipment purchase because he could have installed cheaper than the estimated price.

Harrelle said he had the same equipment installed in the department for about $150. The estimates were over $1,000, he said.

"Then you thought things were being worked out correctly," Underwood asked Morris, who nodded. "Good. No problem there. Next," Cox told the commission that Forrest didn't mention the dispute until the day he was leaving his job as police chief.

Marshall moved on to a dispute between a supervisor and an employee working under her. The dispute was brought before the commission earlier this year. The employee attended that session to air her side of the dispute, but the supervisor was unavailable.

Harrelle told the commission he could ask the supervisor to appear before it, but the hearing never occurred.

Harrelle told Marshall Tuesday night that was because the supervisor had become ill and had taken a vacation, partly without pay, and was back on the job as of Monday, July 18.

Marshall asked if the supervisor had worked any since the dispute was first brought before the commission, and Harrelle said he couldn't recall.

Marshall then accused Harrelle of owning a 50 foot wide lot and issuing a permit to build on the lot.

Harrelle denied he ever owned the 50 foot lot in question saying it belonged to Larue Tripp.

Tripp approached Marshall with documents proving he purchased the lot from John

"This clearly shows that Mr. Harrelle did not won my lot," said Tripp.

Marshall also accused Harrelle of trying to the commission about issuing building permits for 50 foot lots.

"As I have told you repeatedly, I have always issued permits for 50 foot lots," said Harrelle.

Marshall claimed that J.W. Perry had to gain commission approval for building on a 50 foot lot while Tripp gained his permit without commission approval.

Harrelle said Perry had to come before the commission because Marshall himself had raised questions about issuing permits for 50 foot lots.

Tripp asked Harrelle if he had obtained his permit prior to Marshall's questions concerning 50 foot lots.

"Yes," said Harrelle.

Tripp then asked if Perry had made his request after Marshall raised his questions.

"Yes," said Harrelle.

"No, no, no," said Marshall. Another citizen, Naomi Bolgen, approached the commission and asked Harrelle of clearing the trash off his land, then hauling it away, with city equipment and time. Harrelle said he hired a private contractor to clear the land and move the trash to the edge of the property where the city picked it up, just like it does for other residents.

"So yours (trash) is being pushed down and picked up right now and the rest of us have to wait," asked Bolgen. Harrelle said the trash sat on his property a "couple of days" before it was hauled away, but another resident disagreed that.

After levying his allegations and hearing the responses, Marshall asked the commission to decide Harrelle's fate at the next regular meeting August 16.

Underwood said he couldn't vote for or against the city manager, but that he could vote for or against Marshall, and Marshall responded he didn't care about Underwood's vote.

"You should feel for everybody's vote if you care about everybody," said Underwood. He pointed out that Harrelle had a response to every charge Marshall made. "So you (Marshall) made a mistake. He (Harrelle) may of made a mistake. But is there anyone in this room who hasn't made a mistake?

You shouldn't fire him for making a mistake and we shouldn't fire you for making a mistake. We should work together to get things right." Reverend Sim Nelson, a member of the audience, agreed with Underwood. "You gotta do it in harmony and peace or you aren't gonna do it," he said. "Let's sit down like men, and not like... slums."

Commissioner Vernita Cox agreed and suggested the city have a workshop between the next regular meeting to help solve the problems with Harrelle.

Morris also said a workshop was a good idea because that way, if there are problems with Harrelle's or the commission's performance, "adjustments could be made."

"I don't think we are going to fire Mr. Harrelle tonight," said Cox. "We don't even know if these allegations are true."

The workshop will be scheduled at a later date when all the commissioners are available.

Until then, Morris suggested that all the commissioners meet with Harrelle individually to discuss any problems they have.

Commissioner Charles Goodlett, also sitting as a member of the regular fund's governing board, suggested employees be asked for input into any decision to change or not change plans.

"I would like to see the employees help us make a selection," said Goodlett. "Afterall, we're doing this for them. We're not doing this for ourselves. And I'd like to see the employees have some input. They have two things that's gonna make them genuinely interested. That is, how much it's gonna cost me and what am I gonna get out of it."

water and sewage bills. Gooch said the commission would have to set up a rate schedule and when those repairs are made, make adjustments to it to insure the appropriate amount of revenue is raised.

Under the plan, she suggested, water customers who use less than 3,000 gallons per month would pay $1.35 per 1,000 gallons. The current rate is $1.78 per 1,000 gallons, no matter how much a customer uses.

The average rate for those who use up to 6,000 gallons per month would be $1.48 and the average rate for those who use between 6,000 and 10,000 gallons per month would be $1.78.

Mace Sod drops All Stars, 9-1

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE — Mace Sod used a three-pronged attack, pitching, defense and hitting, to hand the All Stars a 9-1 defeat Wednesday evening, July 13.

Mace Sod's Pete Rodriguez was throwing a shutout until the last inning when Alonzo Butts scored the All Stars' only run on an error.

Jimmy Herring led off the game by reaching first on an error by Mickey Freeman, the All Stars' second baseman.

Hal Burke followed with a single into left field to put runners at first and second with no outs.

With one out, Mike Underwood reached first on an error by All Star first baseman Jessie Brown.

Herring advanced to the plate with the first run of the game and Burke took third on the error.

Rodriguez reached base on shortstop Charles Neal's error but the inning ended when Craig Kleibl flew out to left field.

Norman Smith led off the bottom of the first with a strike out and Freeman followed with a single into center field.

Adam Ford flew out to center and Jessie Brown's grounder to shortstop Kleibl was relayed to second base for the force out to end the inning.

Mace Sod added another run in the top of the second. Brandon Markham singled to left field to lead off.

Sonny Stein grounded to third baseman Butts who sent the ball to second to force out the lead runner.

Mike Burkett hit a double into right center to put two runners in scoring position with only one out.

Herring hit a long foul ball down the right field line that was caught, but permitted Stein to score.

Burke ended the inning with a fly ball to left field.

Mace Sod picked up another run on two hits in the third inning.

Underwood sent a ball into right field for a one out single. He advanced to second on a fly out to center by Richey. Rodriguez sent Underwood in with a two out single into right.

Kleibl ended the inning with a grounder to shortstop.

Norman Smith hit a one-out double into right center in the bottom of the inning, and he advanced to third when Freeman flew out to left. Ford grounded out to second base to strand Smith.

Three runs on three hits and three All Star errors gave Mace Sod a 7-0 lead at the end of four innings.

Markham reached first when shortstop Neal bobbled the ball with no one out and Stein took first when third baseman Butts made a bad throw to first.

Mickey Freeman allowed Burkett to take first and Markham to score with no outs when he bobbled a grounder at second.

Herring knocked in Stein with a single to center and Burke sacrificed to left to bring in Burkett.

In the bottom of the inning, Glenn Collier singled with one out and advanced to third when Butts singled into center with two outs.

That threat was erased when Bruce Williams grounded to second and Butts was forced out.

Richey, who singled to lead off the Mace Sod half of the eighth, was left stranded at second.

David Bailey led off the bottom of the ninth with a single to right, but the next batter, Neal, hit a screamer back up the middle that Rodriguez snagged and relayed to first for the double play.

Smith grounded to Rodriguez for the third out. Mace Sod was three up and three down in the sixth.

Mickey Freeman led off the All Stars half of the sixth with a single into center field.

Another double play ended that threat. Adam Ford grounded to second baseman Burke who tagged second to force out Freeman before relaying the ball to Underwood in time for the double play.

Burke led off the seventh inning with a home run over the left field fence.

Dahl singled to left field and Underwood and Richey followed with back-to-back singles into right to lead the bases.

Rodriguez sacrificed to left field to drive in Dahl and give Mace Sod a 9-0 lead.

In the bottom of the seventh, Butts hit a two-out single into center and Bruce Williams singled to center field.

A bad throw from center fielder Markham allowed Butts to score.

The game ended when Bailey grounded out to first base.

In other A Division games, it was Okeelanta 15, All Stars 9; Mace Sod 13, Sugar Supply 2; Hatton Brothers 10, Carter Chevrolet 4; Glades General 4, Carter Chevrolet 3; Okeelanta 16, Hatton Brothers 13 and Glades General 10, Sugar Supply 5.

In the B Division, F&W Farms beat Everglades Farm Equipment 8-6 and Everglades Farm beat Crosby Mobile Homes 16-6.

Glades Sugar beat the No Names 8-3 and the

No Names shut out F&W Farms 4-0.

Theo's beat Carter Electric 4-1 and Glades Ag Service defeated Larry's 5-3. Theo's edged Everglades Farm 5-4 and Seminole Supply beat Glades and Grove 9-5.

In the only other game, Theo's beat Larry's 5-2.

Players of the week

Offense, defense bring honors

A catcher used his bat in the A Division and an outfielder used his glove in the B Division to earn the Players of the Week honors.

Catcher Alonzo Burgess went two-for-four when Hatton Brothers beat Carter Chevrolet 10-4 last week.

He collected two singles and three runs batted in that contest. He also scored one run.

Later, against Okeelanta, he helped his team stay close in the 16-13 defeat.

He went two-for-four with a single and a double and two runs batted in.

In the B Division, J. Davis played center field for the Seminole Supply Oldtimers. Since the Oldtimers only managed to field nine players, Davis was left in charge of two outfield positions.

He was equal to the task, making 11 of the 21 put-outs in that game and helping hold Glades and Grove to just five runs in the Oldtimers' 9-5 victory.

Davis also collected one hit in three at bats. He walked once and scored two runs.

Kiwanis sponsors softball tournament

The Kiwanis Club of the Glades will sponsor a softball tournament Aug. 19-21 for the benefit of the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Kiwanis member Tom Bonavia said the tournament is open to all teams and there will be two divisions of play if enough teams sign up.

The entry fee is $100. All games will be played at Airport Park in Belle Glade. Team trophies will be awarded for first, second and third place and each member of the winning team will receive a windbreaker jacket.

"Every dime we raise will be donated to Muscular Dystrophy," Bonavia said. The club conducts the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon in the Glades.

To register, contact Mike Underwood at the Belle Glade recreation department at 996-0100 or Bonavia at 996-1299 after 5 p.m.
